THREE

Girl with Auburn Locks Make Mutual Confessions.

How to Reach the Female Heart-Admiration Begets Respect and Respect Begets Love.

Three of Memphis's fairest maidens were sitting before a cheerful fire in the parlor of a pretty cottage. "Girls," said the blonde, with a merry twinkle in her eye, "girls, I have a plan to propose. Now please don't laugh at "What is your plan?" saked the other two with considerable animation. "Well, we are all engaged, and will soon be staid and steady wives. Now, let us make mutual confersions. Let us tell each other what particular charm each found in our respective husbands that make us love them."

"All right; you commence," said the brunette and also the maid with the sun-"Now, promise that if I commence both of you will also make confessions. Will

"Well," said the blonde, "when I first net Charley, I positively disliked him. He was so frank and open in his ways that I considered him what those people who use slavg call 'too fresh.' But there was something I couldn't help admiring. He was always neatly dressed and his clothing fitted as if it had been moulded upon him. That made me respect him, and it wasn't long before I learned to love him." him."
"Now for confession No. 2," laughed the brunette; "I positively detested Tom when I first met him. Instead of uttering flattering speeches like the rest of the chaps, he had the audscity to tell that he understood that black-eyed girls had quick tempers. My! but how I hated him at first for that remark. I took occasion to let him know I was angry, and he made me furious by telling me that my conduct me furious by telling me that my conduct proved the truth of his assertion. Find-ing that my anger didn't worry him, I de-termined to make him like me so that I don't think confession No. 3 will be inter-esting. I learned to love Will because, although he dressed magnificently, he was ensible enough to buy all his clothing at he Misfit Parlors, 262 Second street, oppo-

te Court Square."
"And my Charley buys all his clothing
t the Misfit Parlors," chirruped the found that Charley's words were true. He says that the Mistit Parlors have the fluest stock of Pants in Memphis, and that it is really wonderful how cheap they do sell

> Second. Menken's Clearing Sale of

The demand has been unusually large for the cheaper grades of Carpets, and we find too many fine carpets on hand at this season. We do not want to keep them; in fact, we have concluded to sell them regardless of value. It is scarcely necessary to say that a handsome carpet of ten years ago is still handsome, and, in like manner, a handsome carpet of to-day will be a handsome carpet ten years hence. Read the prices; never, never were such goods offered at so low a price.
